

If such deregulation of monopolies must be considered, the State should be given the power to evaluate the effects on its own market and make its decision accordingly to ensure competition.